2. Select a good representative of the Pup community to represent at events, contests and throughout our community during their title year.\
3. Support pet organizations by creating unique and carefully promoted events.

Expectations of the Titleholder

The primary responsibility of the winner of ICP contest title is to build and maintain a positive and respectful image of the contest, PKC and BOS as well as the pup community. There are a few specific minimum expectations listed below, but it's mostly up to the ICP to decide how they want to and are best able to represent - each ICP is unique in their goals and desires and are encouraged to develop these minimum requirements more robustly based on their personal ability and enthusiasm.

Failure or inability to fulfill the listed minimum requirements of the ICP can result in revocation of the title

Community / Public Representation Statement

It's important to the contest and our community that the ICP maintain a positive and respectful public image during their title year. Tarnishing the reputation of the contest or the title can lead to revocation of the title. Rather than provide a list of acceptable behaviors, the winner will always consult with the producer before embarking on social media posts, public speaking or other forms of communication that violate the spirit and image of the title and contest.

Communication with Producer(s)

ICP will maintain an open dialog with the Producer regarding the ICP goals for the title year. This is important so that the Producer can promote the ICP and contest while being consistent with ICP goals. The Producer and ICP will work together to achieve ICP goals.

Event Requirements

The ICP is expected to attend and represent at a minimum of three (3) pup related events during their title year. One of those events shall be held at PTown Bar in coordination with Pittsburgh Kennel Club, PLP LLC, and Barons of Steel. The second event will be a public awareness campaign for the Pittsburgh Humane Society and the third will be a volunteer effort at one of Shepherd Wellness Centers monthly dinner.

The ICP will serve as head judge for the preceding year contest and shall be responsible for recruiting contestants.

The ICP will consult with the producer about other events they would like to attend and the ICP is prohibited from competing at any other contest during their title year.

If the ICP is unable to fulfill their duties or their title is revoked, the ICP will return all title items and prize monies to the Producer.
